AMERICAN NOTE LEAVES DOOR OPEN

United States May Participate in
The Hague Conference if the

MODIFICATIONS NOT KNOWN

Believed This Government Will Insist the Soviet Government Agree to Guarantee Lives

(By United Press)

Washington, May 16.—The American government in its note rejecting the invitation to meet the allied powers at the Hague June 15 to discuss Russian affairs, "has left the door open" for participation in the conference if the program is modified, it was stated at the White House today.

Just what modifications are necessary for the United States to attend the conference was not officially revealed, but it is believed this government will insist the Soviet government agree to guarantee lives and property, the sanctity of the contract and the right of free labor which heretofore have been made dependent on American recognition.

Genoa, May 16.—America's refusal to approve the Hague plan makes it extremely probable that the proposed conference to appoint a Russian commission will be called off.

The French today indicated they will follow the lead of the United States and the Russians withdrew their acceptance and asked for 24 hours delay to consider a new reply.

The Allies desperate at seeing their hopes for a renewal of the European conference at the Hague next month, fading, planned a new note to Washington. They refused to accept the American reply as a final refusal of their invitation.

Washington, May 16.—The administration today stood pat on its determination not to recognize the soviet government of Russia.

Allied dealings with Russia at Genoa and attempts in congress to force recognition have failed to change the administration's attitude.

This was clearly shown today in the note of Secretary Hughes rejecting the invitation to the U. S. to participate in an allied conference at the Hague June 15, at which Russian affairs will be discussed.

The American government makes plain that it will not consider recognition of Russia or enter negotiations regarding the soviet until fundamental reforms are instituted by the Bolshevists.

The United States, however, is ready to put its views to the test by joining an allied commission to investigate what is wrong with Russia and what are the remedies. It is confident that such a commission by making a real investigation of the Russian situation would come to the same conclusion held by this government namely that the "basis for the economic reconstruction of Russia and resumption of international relation lies only in soviet guarantees of the safety of life and property of

WASHINGTON LEVI EXPIRES

Civil War Veteran Dies After Long Illness With Blood Poisoning

Washington Levi, a Civil War veteran, expired at noon today at his home, 830 West Eight street, death being caused from a long suffering with blood poisoning, following an infection of a leg. Four years ago, Mr. Levi was taken ill with blood poison as the result of an ingrowing toe nail, and his leg was amputated, but the poison reappeared recently in his other leg, and caused his death.

The deceased was 78 years old, and is survived by a widow by a second marriage, and four daughters A brother, James R. Levi, and two half-brothers, John and Abe Vansickle, all of this city, also survive.
Funeral arrangements were not made today.

DR. HOUSE SPEAKS TO THE ROTARY CLUB

Lecturer Also Analyzes the Charac-

RUSHVILLE MINISTERS GUESTS

Dr. E. L. House of Portland, Oregon, who is here for a two weeks course of lectures said at the meeting of the Rotary club today noon that the man who gets ahead must be a man of vision, a man of action, a man of affirmation and one who renders a service. At the close of his address, Dr. House analyzed the character of a member of the Rotary club and "diagnosed" him exactly as other Rotarians know him.

Dr. House was a member of the Rotary club while a resident of Spokane, Washington, and is now an honorary member of the Rotary club of San Diego, California. Other guests of the club today were three Rushville pastors, E. G. McKibben,
W. L. Kunkel and Reno Tacoma, C.
S. Black and L. E. Brown, also members of the Rushville ministerial association, were out of the city.

Dr. House showed the difference between sight and vision and said that while the man who only sees things as they are is pessimistic and he who has vision is optimistic because he sees things as they should be, and as he will endeavor to make them. The speaker said that a man of affirmation sets a goal ahead of him and works to it and that every man should perform some service because in doing that he was building up his own character.

Shelbyville Attorney Chosen Democratic District Chairman by

Walter Chambers of Newcastle, Retiring District Chairman, Endorsed For State Chairmanship

Charles A. Hack, an attorney of Shelbyville, was elected the Democratic chairman of the Sixth District at the meeting here this afternoon of the county chairmen from this district. Mr. Hack was elected without opposition and the vote was unanimous. Only one other candidate had been suggested, but when the nominations opened, his name was not presented.

Mrs. J. F. Root of Union county was also elected by acclamation for the vice-chairmanship. The county chairmen decided to defer any action on the election of a secretary or treasurer, and agreed that the new district chairman should select the
would abide by his selections for these offices.

tiring district chairman, was present and presided at the meeting, turning the chair over to Mr. Hack, after the election. The new chairman gave a brief talk outlining his plans for the coming campaign.

The county chairmen from each of the eight counties in this district were present except J. T. Arbuckle of this county, who was away on business, and S. L. Trabue acted as his proxy.

Several of the county vice-chairmen and secretaries were here for the meeting, and a few of the democratic candidates were here. The meeting was called to order at 1:30 this afternoon in the mayor's office at the city building.

The chairmen passed a resolution of appreciation for the services of Mr. Chambers who had served for ten years as the district chairman, and the sixth district also endorsed him for the state chairmanship.

Speeches were made this afternoon by Mrs. Rude, the vice-chairman elected and by Albert Pene, a candidate for judge from Brookville, followed by short talks by James A.
Clifton, candidate for congress, Former Congressman Finly Gray of

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Several Things Expected to Come up Before Meeting

The city council will hold their regular meeting tonight at the city hall, and several matters are scheduled to come up before them, among which is the discussion on the ordinance passed two weeks ago, abolishing outside toilets where sewer connections are available. This ordinance was passed, and many people objected to it, which caused a postponement by Mayor Thomas in signing it. It is understood that some changes might be made.

It also is understood that the council will advertise for bids tonight for a street spiker and grader, similar to the one which is being demonstrated here, and which is said to be proving very successful in repairing the streets.

TRUSTEE'S BONDSMAN WANTS HIS RELEASE

Adrian Rigsbee Petitions Court, Asking to be Released From Bond of Thomas R. Lee

NOW TRUSTEE OF POSEY TWP.

A petition has been filed in the
near Arlington against Thomas R.
Lee, trustee of Posey township, in which the petitioner asks that the court release him as one of the bondsmen for the trustee. The complaint does not set out any reason as to his object in asking to be released from the bond, and no action has been taken on the petition by the court.

Mr. Rigsbee was one of three republicans who aspired to be the candidate for the nomination for trustee of Posey township in the
feated by William M. Gowdy. Whether this fact has anything to do with the petition, is not known. Mr.
Lee did not seek renomination for the office.

There was nothing of much importance in the circuit court today,
and the petition mentioned above, was the only new suit placed on file
today.

Assessing in Other Townships Has Been Completed and Officials Are Completing Their Reports

VALUATIONS ARE TO BE LOWER

Although Monday marked the close of the assessing season, only five township assessors had made a final report to Earl F. Priest, county assessor, today. Other assessors have practically completed their work, however, and either have not found an opportunity to bring their reports to the county assessors office, or are still busy completing their reports.

Personal property valuations still show a slight decrease compared with last year, the county assessor estimated today, and real estate assessments will be off approximately one-fourth, compared with the valuations established in 1919, including the horizontal increases put on by the state board of tax commissioners. There is nothing definite about how the real estate and improvements will run, however, because the townships not yet reported may change the average materially.

The five townships which have reported—Center, Posey, Walker, Orange and Richland, show a decrease of about thirty percent in the assessment of real estate and improvements. The average in these townships will run about $135 an acre whereas the average for the county in 1919, when real estate

CONCERT TICKETS ARE SELLING WELL

Reserved Seats For Second All School Music Event to go on Sale Wednesday at 1 P. M.

CANTATA WILL BE SUNG

Junior Glee Club of Forty Voices to Render "The Swallow"—
Members of The Club

Tickets for the second All School concert to be given by the music department of the Rushville public schools at the Graham Annex auditorium next Saturday evening, are selling exceedingly well, according to reports today, and indicate an active interest which is expected to result in a large crowd attending.
The reserved seat sale opens at Pitman and Wilson's drug store Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock.

Not the least of the attractive features of the concert will be the cantata, "The Swallow," by Carrington, which will be sung by the junior glee club, an organization of forty voices. The senior glee club voices were selected by Miss Sarah I. Mc-Connell, supervisor of music, but the junior glee club was thrown open to all who cared to be members and forty responded.

"There is no time in the life of a child that the voice is sweeter than between the ages of twelve and fourteen years," declared Miss McConnell today, "and those who attend the concert Saturday night will see this fact demonstrated."

Miss McConnell today offered a brief story of the cantata which will be sung by the junior club:

"It's springtime and the children
notice the absence of the swallows.
All at once they hear the sound of a friendly call and see a flash of purple-green. The swallow has returned from the land afar and is welcomed. The swallow has been away too long. The children have missed its graceful flying and the fair pictures it draws upon the sky.

"The swallow comes back with the first wild birds and flowers and brings joy and happiness. But the swallow is sad because the pretty nest it built the year before is gone.
It has no place to rest, but the children tell the swallow it is better to laugh than grieve, better to sing, better to work, better to smile than frown; better to do your best than

Friends of Guy Nichols Think He Was Murdered And Then Removed to Place Where Found

(By United Press)

Seelyville, Ind., May 16.—A culvert one mile east of here is believed by authorities and citizens to be the place where the body of Guy Nichols was laid for some time before it was placed by the interurban tracks where it was found Saturday.

The culvert which is about 150 feet long lies a short distance from a well traveled road. The cement floor of the culvert is believed to have been the last resting place for the body.

The fact that Nichols' clothing showed trace of mold carried out the theory. At the east entrance of the culvert small wagon tracks apparently made by a coaster wagon, were seen leading up to the culvert.
Whether these tracks had anything to do with the carrying of the body to this spot is not known, but citizens believe they have.

opinion that the murder took place at a spot north of the culvert and that when citizens stared dynamiting a pond of water in that section the murders moved the body to the culvert.

Seelyville citizens continued to believe that Nichols was murdered by two or more persons and did not commit suicide as was the verdict of Coroner Fortune.

Gip Martin Suffers Severe Bruises
But No Broken Bones.

Gip Martin, the colored man who was injured late Monday afternoon while working on the reconstruction of a building in East Third street, when dirt caved in on him, was reported to be painfully hurt, but no bones broken. The extent of his injuries may not be known for several days, as he suffered bodily bruises and may be injured internally. He and other workmen were engaged in excavating inside of a building being remodeled by Katsaros Brothers, when the dirt fell in, burying him underneath of a mass of gravel and rocks.

He was taken to a hospital after the accident, but later removed to his home in the northeast part of the city.

Complete Enumeration Shows Gain of 52 Although Six Townships Showed a Slight Loss

This Year's Census Shows a Loss as Compared With Twelve Years Ago—Table is Prepared

The county school enumeration has been completed by the trustees of the twelve townships and a net gain of 23 is shown this year over the enumeration for last year, which combined with the Rushville city school figures, is increased by 29, or a gain of 52 in the year, in the entire county.

The Rushville enumeration was completed two weeks ago by Mrs.
Allie Aldridge, who at that time reported an increase in the city. The report on the entire county is most encouraging, as most of the counties in this vicinity have reported a loss excepting the county seats, which have gained in the school enumeration.

Although Rush county has gained 52 in the school year, there is quite a loss as compared with the school enumeration taken twelve years ago, which at that time showed 76 more children of school age in the county.

The population of Rush county decreased in the last decade, according to the government census of 1910 and 1920. A table of the last twelve years has been compiled at the county school superintendent's office, and many interesting facts are disclosed in the various periods.

The present census shows that there are 4,727 children of school age in the county, as compared with an even 4800 in 1911, and as compared with 4672 in 1921. These figures are divided as follows, with 3446 in the schools outside of Rushville city this year, with 3423 last

In the year 1913 the school census was the largest when a total of 4840 was obtained for the county, but the largest in Rushville city was in 1916 when the enumeration showed 1350.

The twelve townships outside of Rushville city, divided honors equally this year over the gain and loss from last year's enumeration, ac-

umeration by the townships for the specified years:

	1911	1921	1922
Anderson	380	355	357

Dr. E. L. House Discusses Subtle

TWO KINDS SUGGESTIONS

Conscious Mind Talking to the Sub-Conscious Mind

Modern psychology and the subtle influence of words and acts over one's life and the lives of others were treated by Dr. E. L. House in St. Paul's Methodist church Monday
Suggestion."

This was the third of a series of lectures given by Dr. House on the general topic of psychology of religion this week and next, each afternoon at 3 and each evening at 7:45 o'clock. The topic for Tuesday evening will be "The Destroyers and Builders of Health."

In his lecture Monday night on powers of suggestion, Dr. House in part said:

"Suggestion is that thought that comes to us from another. It may come through books, newspapers, conversations and advertisements.
It is sufficient to change the whole course of life. Suggestions are working on us all the time and we would be ruled by them altogether if it were not for our own will and reasoning power. We can negative evil suggestions through auto-suggestion or self-determination.

"Many of the suggestions that come to us are weakening, such as the ideas of inherited disease, the influence of environment, superstitions and such custom as wearing black to emphasize the thought of bereavement. There is no disease actually inherited. The very most that is ever transmitted is weakened nerve tendencies and these can be counteracted and negated by proper suggestions. Superstitions concerning the number 13, about Friday, about knocking on wood and customs such as mourning are entirely out of harmony with the word of God.

"In our suggestions to children we must deal in constructive things and not in destructive things. To call a boy lazy, stupid or good-for-nothing will help to make him so,
and to say to a girl that she is nervous is to bring about the very condition you hope to avoid. To overcome weakening suggestions there must come the remedial power of greater suggestion. These can be given by teacher, physician, healer, parent or friend.

mind talking to the sub-conscious mind. Hold before yourself the great ideals. Give yourself the idea that you are going to win. The mind can both create and destroy disease. The Bible is full of great suggestions.
God is continually suggesting to us possibilities that we can attain and realize. Give the church on the Sabbath an opportunity to suggest great
Word.

His address this afternoon was on
"The Bridge of Faith" and he declared that it has five equally important arches: belief, trust, submission, faithfulness and reward.

"We believe with the intellect," declared Dr. House. "We trust with the heart, and submit to our superiors by an act of the will. Faithfulness is built on the life the individual lives, and the final arch, reward, comes as a result of conquering faith."

Speaking on the necessity of the use of the heart and intellect in seeking to understand spiritual things, he brought out forcibly the difference between the civilization of Germany and England in this respect, declaring, "Goethe was all intellect and no heart. So Germany stands largely for intellectual power. In England there was a man named Wesley, who not only had intellect but a great heart, and England received a great humanizing impulse to its civilization.

"Bismarck followed Goethe and put only iron into Germany. While in England there was Gladstone, who put heart as well as strength into the life of his country.

A. Ostrander of Purdue

As Necessary to Fertilize and Feed
And Crop Expert Says

"Pastures in Indiana are poor in producing results, but rich in possibilities. They have come to this condition not in one year, but through a period of years of close cropping and neglect as to furnishing plant-food or cultivation. Many people seem to think that pastures are poor land crops, and many pastures from their appearance follow out this conception. They need not be so. In many cases, farm lands are either naturally too poor or unfitted by topography for cultivated crops or are fields that have been farmed hard without adding any plant-food, and after a long period of years of producing cash crops are turned over to pasturage to sort of recuperate, and they are not doing it," said W. A. Ostrander of Purdue University soils and crops department.

"It is as necessary to fertilize and feed a pasture as it is a grain crop," he said. "It is not profitable to make a cow run over four times the area necessary to get enough feed to give profitable production. The highest percentage of complaints against dairying or the feeding of cattle in any community are generally 'poor pastures.' These are due to probably two things: first, that the ground is generally too acid to grow luxuriant blue grass and clover; second, it has been cropped so close or was naturally so low in phosphate that it cannot produce the big yields of pasturage.

Therefore: these pastures should be given an application of pulverized limestone and a liberal application of phosphate. The moss and weeds then will give way to blue grass and clovers, which will more than hold their own with the weeds. It is well known that the best pastures of the country are on limestone and high phosphate soils. It is on these types of ground that we have our fine blue grass and red clover pastures, and on these pastures are produced the finest live stock."

Many pastures that are too far gone will need reseeding at the time of top dressing, but reseeding alone will seldom be successful, because it does not correct the fault of a deficient soil. Indiana's pastures now should be shoe-top high, but traveling over the state reveals them to be eaten down close to the ground, and certainly by the time the hot, dry weather comes, there will be nothing but bare ground. No farmer can afford to have land in this condition.

Larger Farms Pay Operators

Most, Purdue Investigation Shows

One of the biggest reasons many Indiana farmers do not make larger financial returns for their efforts is that they are operating under the handicap of too small a business. Repeated investigations made in Indiana by the Farm Management Department of Purdue University and similar studies elsewhere reveal the fact that contrary to the opinion held by many well-informed people the "small farm well-tilled" is not the economical farm unit and that men make better returns for their labor and capital by operating farms of approximately a "two-man size," where the turnover is greater during the year, where the overhead expense is smaller in proportion to production, and where labor and equipment can be used more efficiently.

The importance of this consideration is often overlooked by prospective purchasers of farms, says L. S. Robertson of the farm management department of Purdue University. "A man who purchases a farm should be sure that there is at least an opportunity for a large business as evidenced by a fair amount of tillable land or a good market for intensive crops to be grown on a smaller acreage, usually the former, as greater ability is required and greater risk involved if the large business is conducted on a small acreage, even in case the necessary special market is available to permit intensive farming.

business and have enough money left so that his "working capital" is not unduly limited, investigations have shown that he can get a farm paid for sooner by operating a rented farm of fair size until he accumulates capital enough to make payment on a larger farm, then by purchasing a small farm and operating it under the handicap that such a business necessarily entails, no matter how high a quality of business he conducts. The only exception to this is in case land goes up enough in value over a period of years so that the gain thru the increase in price of owned land amounts to more than the extra profits that would be made in the same length of time on the larger farm."

Census figures show that during the past 70 years the gain in price of land has amounted to about 2 percent interest annually on the value of the land, part of this increase, of course, due to improvements. Doubtless land will get much higher priced in many places, but the increase is not likely to be as rapid in the future and a purchaser should have a strong reason for believing a farm will increase materially in price before he acquires a small farm as an investment and sacrifice on his yearly income in order to benefit by this increase in value.

Occasionally a small farm is purchased with the intention of renting additional land nearby to increase the size of the business. This allows the purchaser to build up a better home than is often possible on a rented farm, and may be advisable where additional land is usually available for renting, but a man in this condition may at times find it impossible to secure extra land or to profitably intensify on his small acreage, and this should be given consideration in purchasing.

As Membership List for County Pig Club is Not Completely Filled, Time is Extended One Week

BREEDERS TO FURNISH PIGS

Three Breeders' Organizations Want to Encourage Growing of More Pure Bred Hogs in County

As the membership list for the County Pig Club is not completely filled, the time for making application for membership has been extended one week. All applications are to be in the hands of the county agent not later than Saturday, May 20.

The committee has places for four more members who want Big Type Poland Chinas, three who want Duroc-Jerseys and can handle seven more members in the Hampshire class.

Three breeders' organizations are behind the proposed club and the gilt pigs which are to be distributed to the club members on June 1, will be furnished by the breeders. The organizations are behind the club as a project to encourage the growing of more pure bred hogs in Rush county, and not as a direct money-making scheme, for as was the case in the club last year, more money will likely be spent in financing the expenses of the club show in the fall and making up the premium lists than will be paid by the boys for the pigs.

Each boy will pay fifteen dollars for his registered pure-bred gilt, which will be the best individuals that the committee can get together. If any boy should draw a gilt that he considers not worth the money, he can go ahead as a member of the club and complete the project, showing his pig at the club show this August. Then if still dissatisfied, the breeder will take back the gilt and refund the fifteen dollars paid as well as pay the member for the feed which was fed.

The club is for girls as well as boys, and a number of girls are expected to apply for membership. In the past the girls have been strong contenders for the prizes and a year or two ago a girl won the state championship in the state pig club contest. Many would like to see some girl bring home the bacon for Rush county. Application blanks may be had at the county agent's office.

MOON SIGNS ARE ANCIENT ORIGIN

Purdue Experts Say That Many Farmers Yet Believe That Weeds Should be Cut by the Moon

NO FOUNDATION FOR THE FACT

A. A. Hansen Asserts That Scientific Investigation Places no Faith in Zodiac Farming

Judging by the inquiries received at the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station, there are still a number of farmers in Indiana who believe that weeds cut in the "dark of the moon," in the "full of the moon," or by certain signs of the Zodiac, will be destroyed never to return. If the right "sign" could only be found, everything would be all right.

"Beliefs of this character are a survival of ancient superstition," said A. A. Hansen of the botanical extension staff of Purdue University. They have no foundation on fact. No scientific investigator ever places the slightest faith in the influence of the moon in destroying weeds. It is true that cutting in mid-June and again in mid-August will cause the gradual disappearance of most pasture weeds and roadside weeds, but this effect is not due to the influence of the moon. Cutting on the dates named will prevent seed formation in the spring-flowering and fall-flowering weeds, thereby preventing reproduction by means of seeds and weakening them so they cannot compete with the ordinary grasses. But to attribute the disappearance of weeds to the influence of the moon is absurd."

There is another erroneous belief among farmers which relates that weeds cut on the anniversary of the day John the Baptist was decapitated, will never return. No two farmers will agree on the proper date, however.

Greater success in destroying weeds will result if farmers will follow established principles of weed control that are based on experience, experiments and scientific facts.

How Many Stars?

We think of the multitude of stars and would in all probability say that on a clear, frosty, moonless night we see millions of them. In reality, on such a night, if we leave out the faintly luminous milky way, we see fewer than 3,000 distinct stars. In the whole starry sphere, of which we see only half of any given time, there are only a score of first-magnitude stars, beginning with Sirius, the brightest of them, and including stars like Orion's right shoulder and left knee, Betelgeuse and Rigel, Vega and Arcturus.

AMUSEMENTS

Last Showing at Princess.

As careers are reckoned, Betty Compson's has been truly meteoric. Those who see her in her latest picture, "For Those We Love," produced by the star herself, at the Princess Theatre, where it will play for the last time today, will recognize a talent that rose above adversity and found its own level. Not many years ago, Miss Compson was playing the violin in an act on vaudeville stage. Her success was the result of an unusual natural talent for music combined with a personality that reached beyond the footlights.

It was during this period of her artistic career that Al Christie saw her. He immediately offered her what seemed a tremendous sum to become the leading lady in his famous screen comedies. To make this part of her story short, she made good immediately. Then, when the late George Loane Tucker engaged Miss Compson for "The Miracle Man," she made such a profound impression on critics and public alike that she decided to form her own producing organization.

Her first picture under her own banner was "Prisoners of Love," which was released by Goldwyn. "For Those We Love," her new starring production, finds her among the leading stars in the film world.

Ends Engagement Today.

Besides a number of the most thrilling scenes ever flashed on the screen, including a flood that sweeps a village to destruction, "The Call of Home," an R-C production being shown at the Mystic Theatre again today, presents a story of deep human interest that will appeal to all classes of theatregoers.

The story briefly is as follows:

Two boys, Gerry Lansing and Alan Wayne, are brought up together at Red Hill, the summer home of their people. Gerry, who has wealth, becomes a futile, high-living, conventional repetition of the man of his class, following the traditions of his family and falling into a lethargy of effortless living. He marries Alix, a beautiful, frivolous woman whom he soon ceases to interest.

Alan plays fast and loose with his guardian's money (which he supposes is his own) and wins the affection of the many women who please his fancy. Alan always has fascinated Alix, and they drift from flirtation to infatuation. Gerry grows jealous and Alix leaves him to go to Alan. She changes her mind before the train starts, however, and goes home.

Gerry, supposing that Alan and Alix have eloped, takes a ship for Pernambuco, leaving no trace of his whereabouts. There he becomes entangled with a Spanish girl, who rescues him when he is flung from his canoe, and they settle down to the crude life of the wilderness. A great flood carries away Gerry's ditch and drowns Margarita, the Spanish girl, just as Gerry has met

Alan, half dead of fever when the latter is brought into the hut in which Gerry is living with some outcasts. From Alan he learns that Alix is blameless and has become the mother of his son.

Radio's Rapid Expansion

Radio broadcasting stations of the 360-meter wave length number now well over 100, an increase of more than 50 per cent within less than one month. Department store broadcasting stations of this class throughout the United States have increased 100 per cent within a one-month period and constitute nearly 13 per cent of the total number. There are listed in a recent report 202 manufacturers of radio apparatus, including 34 plants producing complete receiving sets; 58 manufacturers of accessories and special units for receiving sets; 23 manufacturers of raw materials and parts used in construction of radio apparatus, and 34 manufacturers of A and B batteries and battery recharging devices.

A vast literature of radio has been born—almost over night. Nine new magazines devoted to radio are listed. Numberless popular monthly and weekly publications, together with all trade journals even remotely concerned with the new field of industrial and commercial activity, are devoting departments to the subject. Newspapers in all large cities and

The National Retail Dry Goods Association survey, entitled "Radio Merchandising in Department Stores" covers radio's industrial and commercial development to date. The keynote throughout is that radio can be made commercially profitable only insofar as the merchandising of it is conducted on the basis of consistent, practical service to the entire community.

Of all merchandise, the forward points out, radio is essentially a service business. Radio equipment is so varied in nature and use; the radio art is still so largely in process of development and the instruments required are of construction and adjustment so delicate that stores which would successfully deal in radio goods must be prepared to give real service and to stand behind the merchandise sold. Knowledge of the principles of radio telephony, and a sales force especially intelligent and trained are indispensable.

Walter Travis Traces Longevity to Golfing

That he owes his life to golf is the belief expressed by Walter J. Travis, the only American to win the British amateur championship, after a winter spent in golfing on the Pacific coast.
"Golfing is a national blessing," said the New Jersey player. "It prolongs life. I believe that I would be dead now if I had not taken up golf, and my regret is that I waited until I was thirty-five years of age before taking to the links with its life-giving benefits. Now they start young, but it is never too late to begin, for even with my late start I won both the American and the British titles, and one may go on golfing many years after the age that would prevent indulgence in other sports."

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Louise Hogsett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hogsett of Phoenix, Arizona, formerly of this city, to Raymond J. McAndrews of Phoenix, has been received here. The announcement was made at a party given by Mrs. Edgar Lobit, formerly Miss Kathleen Hogsett, sister of the bride-to-be, according to the following from a Phoenix newspaper:

Mrs. Edgar Lobit was a charming hostess Friday when she entertained a few intimate friends at her beautiful country home on North Central avenue when she announced the engagement of her sister, Miss Louise Hogsett, to Raymond J. McAndrews. The wedding is to be an event of the summer months.

Miss Hogsett is one of the loveliest members of the younger set and though only having resided in Phoenix for little over a year has endeared herself to society. Mr. McAndrews is well known in business circles, having been associated with the Busy Drug company for the past five years.

LACK OF TREES IS SOURCE OF WASTE

Richard Lieber Explains How Tree Roots Are Benefit in Time of Heavy Downpours

Indianapolis, Ind., May 16.—Deforestation of Indiana lands has been a great source of waste, according to Richard Lieber, director of the state department of conservation today.

The waste caused by the recent floods throughout Indiana and the middlewest intensified and made more violent by the lack of trees, was enormous, he said.

According to Lieber, the tree roots entangled below the surface of the soil, hold the soil intact and only allow water to trickle through slowly instead of forming large orifices and draining the land almost as soon as the rain hits the earth.

He said this rapid drainage is a source of waste through defertilizing the soil long before its richness is exhausted by crops. The farmer then must buy fertilizer which is usually not nearly so effective as that which has been in the land growing plants for ages. The water flowing away rapidly carried the particles of light decayed material and the soluble phosphorus and potash compounds off to the rivers and streams and leaves the heavy clay.

Then arises another source of waste, he said. When these substances reach the streams, the streams become polluted. The particles of decayed matter are harmful to the fish. During warm weather, especially they absorb or unite with the oxygen which the fish must breathe.

The water polluted by these substances that are washed from the soil must be purified before it is fit for drinking purposes, he said.

"So the swallow builds a nest that withstands the summer's heat and winter's blasts—a home full of love and cheer. At eventide the children love to sit and watch the swallow swiftly flying. They fly like so many sprites at play while the rose twilight fades and soft bells are heard ringing in the distance.

Under a Microscope. Although nearly every flower presents new beauties of detail when viewed through a microscope, not every one resembles the illustration to some Far Eastern wonder tale, as does the swamp saxifrage. Anything but lovely at first unmagined glance, this humble flower proves fascinating when seen through a lens. Instead of resembling a cushion stuck full of red-headed pins and decked with knots of ribbon, the microscope view makes one think of an elaborate pagoda ornamented with filigree work, carving and exquisite bits of sculpture, the whole structure expressed in miniature floral form.

AMERICAN NOTE LEAVES DOOR OPEN

(By United Press)
Washington, May 16.—The Amer-
Russian affairs, "has left the door
open" for participation in the con-
was stated at the White House today.

off.

hours delay to consider a new reply.

their hopes for a renewal of the Eu-
final refusal of their invitation.

istration today stood pat on its de-

affairs will be discussed.

plain that it will not consider recog-
shevists.

joining an allied commission to in-

Dr. E. L. House of Portland, Ore-
other Rotarians know him.

Dr. House was a member of the
Spokane, Washington, and is now an
guests of the club today were three Rushville pastors, E. G. McKibben,
W. L. Kunkel and Reno Tacoma. C.
S. Black and L. E. Brown, also members of the Rushville Ministerial association, were out of the city.

between sight and vision and said
ing up his own character.

cratic District Chairman by

Walter Chambers of Newcastle, Re-

Charles A. Hack, an attorney of Shelbyville, was elected the Demo-
district. Mr. Hack was elected with-
not presented.

Mrs. J. F. Root of Union county
these offices.

sent and presided at the meeting,
turning the chair over to Mr. Hack,
for the coming campaign.

his proxy.

at the city building.

Mr. Chambers who had served for ten years as the district chairman,
him for the state chairmanship.

man elected, and by Albert Piene, a candidate for judge from Brookville,
followed by short talks by James A.

Several Things Expected to Come up

hall, and several matters are sched-
which is the discussion on the or-
connections are available. This ordinance was passed, and many peo-
some changes might be made.

night for a street spiker and grader,
pairing the streets.

near Arlington against Thomas R.
Lee, trustee of Posey township, in
bondsmen for the trustee. The complaint does not set out any reason
leased from the bond, and no ac-
by the court.

Mr. Rigsbee was one of three re-
feated by William M. Gowdy. Whether this fact has anything to do with the petition, is not known. Mr.
the office.

portance in the circuit court today,
and the petition mentioned above,
today.

practically completed their work,
ports.

ers. There is nothing definite about
change the average materially.

of about thirty percent in the as-

Sale Wednesday at 1 P. M.

result in a large crowd attending.
nesday afternoon at one o'clock.

cantata, "The Swallow," by Carrington,
were selected by Miss Sarah I. Mc-
forty responded.

teen years," declared Miss McConnell today, "and those who attend

brief story of the cantata which will
be sung by the junior club:

notice the absence of the swallows.
fairy pictures it draws upon the sky.

nest it built the year before is gone.
It has no place to rest, but the chil-
laugh than grieve, better to sing,
frown; better to do your work than

Was Murdered And Then Re-

(By United Press)
Seelyville, Ind., May 16.—A culvert one mile east of here is believed
was laid for some time before it
where it was found Saturday.

The culvert which is about 150
the body.

the culvert small wagon tracks apparently made by a coaster wagon,
were seen leading up to the culvert.
Whether these tracks had anything
zens believe they have.

that when citizens started dynamiting
vert.

Seelyville citizens continued to be-
of Coroner Fortune.

But No Broken Bones.

while working on the reconstruction
of a building in East Third street,
bones broken. The extent of his in-
excavating inside of a building being
remodeled by Katsaros Brothers,
rocks.

Complete Enumeration Shows Gain
of 52 Although Six Townships

This Year's Census Shows a Loss as

the enumeration for last year, which
tire county.

completed two weeks ago by Mrs.
loss excepting the county seats,
enumeration.

a loss as compared with the school
enumeration taken twelve years ago,
which at that time showed 76 more
children of school age in the county.

are disclosed in the various periods.

age in the county, as compared with
pared with 4672 in 1921. These figures are divided as follows, with
ville city this year, with 3423 last

sus was the largest when a total of 4840 was obtained for the county,
ed 1350.

The twelve townships outside of Rushville city, divided honors equally this year over the gain and loss
from last year's enumeration, ac-

umeration by the townships for the
specified years:

	1911	1921	1922

St. Paul's Methodist church Monday
Suggestion."

This was the third of a series of
general topic of psychology of religion this week and next, each afternoon at 3 and each evening at 7:45 o'clock. The topic for Tuesday evening will be "The Destroyers and Builders of Health."

part said:

"Suggestion is that thought that
come through books, newspapers,
conversations and advertisements.
course of life. Suggestions are work-
self-determination.

influence of environment, superstitions and such custom as wearing
bereavement. There is no disease actually inherited. The very most that
nerve tendencies and these can be
counteracted and negated by proper suggestions. Superstitions con-
day, about knocking on wood and customs such as mourning are entirely out of harmony with the word of God.

nothing will help to make him so,
and to say to a girl that she is ner-
given by teacher, physician, healer,
parent or friend.

you are going to win. The mind can
Bible is full of great suggestions.
Word.

"The Bridge of Faith" and he declared that it has five equally important arches: belief, trust, submission, faithfulness and reward.

PASTURES NEED A TOP DRESSING

Are Poor in Producing Results But Rich in Possibilities, Says W.
A. Ostrander of Purdue

"Pastures in Indiana are poor in producing results, but rich in possibilities. They have come to this condition not in one year, but through a period of years of close cropping and neglect as to furnishing plant-food or cultivation. Many people seem to think that pastures are poor land crops, and many pastures from their appearance follow out this conception. They need not be so. In many cases, farm lands are either naturally too poor or unfitted by topography for cultivated crops or are fields that have been farmed hard without adding any plant-food, and after a long period of years of producing cash crops are turned over to pasturage to sort of recuperate, and they are not doing it," said W. A. Ostrander of Purdue University soils and crops department.

"It is as necessary to fertilize and feed a pasture as it is a grain crop," he said. "It is not profitable to make a cow run over four times the area necessary to get enough feed to give profitable production. The highest percentage of complaints against dairying or the feeding of cattle in any community are generally 'poor pastures.' These are due to probably two things: first, that the ground is generally too acid to grow luxuriant blue grass and clover; second, it has been cropped so close or was naturally so low in phosphate that it cannot produce the big yields of pasturage.

Therefore: these pastures should be given an application of pulverized limestone and a liberal application of phosphate. The moss and weeds then will give way to blue grass and clovers, which will more than hold their own with the weeds. It is well known that the best pastures of the country are on limestone and high phosphate soils. It is on these types of ground that we have our fine blue grass and red clover pastures, and on these pastures are produced the finest live stock."

Many pastures that are too far gone will need reseeding at the line of top dressing, but reseeding alone will seldom be successful, because it does not correct the fault of a deficient soil. Indiana's pastures now should be shoe-top high, but traveling over the state reveals them to be eaten down close to the ground, and certainly by the time the hot, dry weather comes, there will be nothing but bare ground. No farmer can afford to have land in this condition.

Larger Farms Pay Operators Most, Purdue Investigation Shows

One of the biggest reasons many Indiana farmers do not make larger financial returns for their efforts is that they are operating under the handicap of too small a business. Repeated investigations made in Indiana by the Farm Management Department of Purdue University and similar studies elsewhere reveal the fact that contrary to the opinion held by many well-informed people the "small farm well-titled" is not the economical farm unit and that men make better returns for their labor and capital by operating farms of approximately a "two-man size," where the turnover is greater during the year, where the overhead expense is smaller in proportion to production, and where labor and equipment can be used more efficiently.

The importance of this consideration is often overlooked by prospective purchasers of farms, says L. S. Robertson of the farm management department of Purdue University. "A man who purchases a farm should be sure that there is at least an opportunity for a large business as evidenced by a fair amount of tillable land or a good market for intensive crops to be grown on a smaller acreage, usually the former, as greater ability is required and greater risk involved if the large business is conducted on a small acreage, even in case the necessary special market is available to permit intensive farming.

Census figures show that during the past 70 years the gain in price of land has amounted to about 2 percent interest annually on the value of the land, part of this increase, of course, due to improvements. Doubtless land will get much higher priced in many places, but the increase is not likely to be as rapid in the future and a purchaser should have a strong reason for believing a farm will increase materially in price before he acquires a small farm as an investment and sacrifice on his yearly income in order to benefit by this increase in value.

Occasionally a small farm is purchased with the intention of renting additional land nearby to increase the size of the business. This allows the purchaser to build up a better home than is often possible on a rented farm, and may be advisable where additional land is usually available for renting, but a man in this condition may at times find it impossible to secure extra land or to profitably intensify on his small acreage, and this should be given consideration in purchasing.

As the membership list for the County Pig Club is not completely filled, the time for making application for membership has been extended one week. All applications are to be in the hands of the county agent not later than Saturday, May 20.

The committee has places for four more members who want Big Type Poland Chinas, three who want Duroc Jerseys and can handle seven more members in the Hampshire class.

Three breeders' organizations are behind the proposed club and the gilt pigs which are to be distributed to the club members on June 1, will be furnished by the breeders. The organizations are behind the club as a project to encourage the growing of more pure bred hogs in Rush county, and not as a direct money-making scheme, for as was the case in the club last year, more money will likely be spent in financing the expenses of the club show in the fall and making up the premium lists than will be paid by the boys for the feed which was fed.

The club is for girls as well as boys, and a number of girls are expected to apply for membership. In the past the girls have been strong contenders for the prizes and a year or two ago a girl won the state championship in the state pig club contest. Many would like to see some girl bring home the bacon for Rush county. Application blanks may be had at the county agent's office.

How Many Stars?

We think of the multitude of stars and would in all probability say that on a clear, frosty, moonless night we see millions of them. In reality, on such a night, if we leave out the faintly luminous milky way, we see fewer than 3,000 distinct stars. In the whole starry sphere, of which we see only half of any given time, there are only a score of first-magnitude stars, beginning with Sirius, the brightest of them, and including stars like Orion's right shoulder and left knee, Betelgeuse and Rigel, Vega and Arcturus.

AMUSEMENTS

Last Showing at Princess.

As careers are reckoned, Betty Compson's has been truly meteoric. Those who see her in her latest picture, "For Those We Love," produced by the star herself, at the Princess Theatre, where it will play for the last time today, will recognize a talent that rose above adversity and found its own level. Not many years ago, Miss Compson was playing the violin in an act on vaudeville stage. Her success was the result of an unusual natural talent for music combined with a personality that reached beyond the footlights.

It was during this period of her artistic career that AL Christie saw her. He immediately offered her what seemed a tremendous sum to become the leading lady in his famous screen comedies. To make this part of her story short, she made good immediately. Then, when the late George Loane Tucker engaged Miss Compson for "The Miracle Man," she made such a profound impression on critics and public alike that she decided to form her own producing organization.

Her first picture under her own banner was "Prisoners of Love," which was released by Goldwyn. "For Those We Love," her new starring production, finds her among the leading stars in the film world.

Ends Engagement Today.

Besides a number of the most thrilling scenes ever flashed on the screen, including a flood that sweeps a village to destruction, "The Call of Home," an R-C production being shown at the Mystic Theatre again today, presents a story of deep human interest that will appeal to all classes of theatregoers.

The story briefly is as follows:

Two boys, Gerry Lansing and Alan Wayne, are brought up together at Red Hill, the summer home of their people. Gerry, who has wealth, becomes a futile, high-living, conventional repetition of the man of his class, following the traditions of his family and falling into a lethargy of effortless living. He marries Alix, a beautiful, frivolous woman whom he soon ceases to interest.

Alan plays fast and loose with his guardian's money (which he supposes is his own) and wins the affection of the many women who please his fancy. Alan always has fascinated Alix, and they drift from flirtation to infatuation. Gerry grows jealous and Alix leaves him to go to Alan. She changes her mind before the train starts, however, and goes home.

Gerry, supposing that Alan and Alix have eloped, takes a ship for Pernambuco, leaving no trace of his whereabouts. There he becomes entangled with a Spanish girl, who rescues him when he is flung from his canoe, and they settle down to the crude life of the wilderness. A great flood carries away Gerry's ditch and drowns Margarita, the Spanish girl, just as Gerry has met

Alan, half dead of fever when the latter is brought into the hut in which Gerry is living with some outcasts. From Alan he learns that Alix is blameless and has become the mother of his son.

Radio broadcasting stations of the 360-meter wave length number now well over 100, an increase of more than 50 per cent within less than one month. Department store broadcasting stations of this class throughout the United States have increased 100 per cent within a one-month period and constitute nearly 13 per cent of the total number. There are listed in a recent report 202 manufacturers of radio apparatus, including 34 plants producing complete receiving sets; 58 manufacturers of accessories, and special units for receiving sets; 23 manufacturers of raw materials and parts used in construction of radio apparatus, and 34 manufacturers of A and B batteries and battery recharging devices.

A vast literature of radio has been born, almost overnight. Nine new magazines devoted to radio are listed. Numberless popular monthly and weekly publications, together with all trade journals even remotely concerned with the new field of industrial and commercial activity, are devoting departments to the subject. thousands in smaller centers feature radio information for the general public.

The National Retail Dry Goods Association survey, entitled "Radio Merchandising in Department Stores" covers radio's industrial and commercial development to date. The keynote throughout is that radio can be made commercially profitable only insofar as the merchandising of it is conducted on the basis of consistent, practical service to the entire community.

Of all merchandise, the forward points out, radio is essentially a service business. Radio equipment is so varied in nature and use; the radio art is still so largely in process of development and the instruments required are of construction and adjustment so delicate that stores which would successfully deal in radio goods must be prepared to give real service and to stand behind the merchandise sold. Knowledge of the principles of radio telephony, and a sales force especially intelligent and trained are indispensable.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan bleach, and complexion whitener.
Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.

COME IN AND GET YOUR TIRE

We are certainly putting on Tires these days. It looks now like we are going to sell more tires in May than we did in April, and we sure did put them out in April.

Do you want to know why? Well, we will tell you.

This year people want the best that they can buy with the money that they have to invest and that is just exactly what we have in

GOODYEAR TIRES AND TUBES

We have tried about all of them—the ones that are cheap and the ones that are supposed to be cheap, and have settled it in our mind, beyond all doubt, that the greatest tire value today is found in GOODYEAR.

We can fit you out whether you drive a motorcycle or a ten-ton truck.

That he owes his life to golf is the belief expressed by Walter J. Travis, the only American to win the British amateur championship, after a winter spent in golfing on the Pacific coast.
"Golfing is a national blessing," said the New Jersey player. "It prolongs life. I believe that I would be dead now if I had not taken up golf, and my regret is that I waited until I was thirty-five years of age before taking to the links with its life-giving benefits. Now they start young, but it is never too late to begin, for even with my late start I won both the American and the British titles, and one may go on golfing many years after the age that would prevent indulgence in other sports."

Indianapolis, Ind., May 16.—Deforestation of Indiana lands has been a great source of waste, according to Richard Lieber, director of the state department of conservation today.

The waste caused by the recent floods throughout Indiana and the middlewest intensified and made more violent by the lack of trees, was enormous, he said.

According to Lieber, the tree roots extending below the surface of the soil, hold the soil intact and only allow water to trickle through slowly instead of forming large orifices and draining the land almost as soon as the rain hits the earth.

He said this rapid drainage is a source of waste through defertilizing the soil long before its richness is exhausted by crops. The farmer then must buy fertilizer which is usually not nearly so effective as that which has been in the land growing plants for ages. The water flowing away rapidly carried the particles of light decayed material and the soluble phosphorus and potash compounds off to the rivers and streams and leaves the heavy clay.

Then arises another source of waste, he said. When these substances reach the streams, the streams become polluted. The particles of decayed matter are harmful to the fish. During warm weather, especially they absorb or mite with the oxygen which the fish must breathe.

The water polluted by these substances that are washed from the soil must be purified before it is fit for drinking purposes, he said.

Under a Microscope.

Although nearly every flower presents new beauties of detail when viewed through a microscope, not every one resembles the illustration to some far Eastern wonder tale. As does the swamph saxifrage. Anything but lovely at first unaided glance, this humble flower proves fascinating when seen through a lens. Instead of resembling a cushion stuck full of red-headed pins and decked with knots of ribbon, the microscope view makes one think of an elaborate pagoda ornamented with intricate work, carving and exquisite bits of sculpture, the whole structure expressed in miniature floral form.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, with interest and costs I will at the same time and place expose to Public Sale the fee simple of said real estate or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree. MERRY-GO-ROUND

"No, sah, ah don't neber ride on dem things," said an old colored lady, looking in on the merry-go-round. "Why, de other day I seen dat Rastus Johnson git on an' ride as much as a dollah's worth an' git off at de very same place he got on at, an' I sez to him, 'Rastus,' I sez, 'yo' spent yo' money, but whar yo' been?'"

Isn't that the way we all feel when we have spent money foolishly that we may have spent wisely, or saved to spend for good things in the future?
